Prepare your organisation to react

Emergency planning is a complex and often uncomfortable task; OCTO is well placed - with due sensitivity - to ensure that the organisation is well prepared.

- ▶ Development of corporate emergency management policy for national and multinational corporations
- ▶ Designing emergency management centres for companies and government agencies
- ▶ Establishing and developing a cadre of managers to populate emergency teams
- ▶ Design and implementation of emergency information management system
- ▶ Preparing emergency manual suites, plus unique OCTO brief-case/filofax handbook for executives
- ▶ Drawing up competencies for accrediting of key players.

"Disaster planning is an illusion unless it is based on valid assumptions about human behaviour; incorporates an inter-organisational perspective, is tied to resources and is known and accepted by the participants".

Dr Erik Auf der Hiede
1989

Prepare your people to 'perform under pressure'

OCTO has been coaching senior executives in practical emergency management for over two decades. Examples of emergency management training delivered include:

- ▶ Emergency management seminars
- ▶ Emergency organisation development
- ▶ OCTAVE Emergency system administration
- ▶ Review and benchmarking of major hazard emergency management
- ▶ Design and development of emergency management facilities and information management systems.
